

Resource Inventory API

The Resource Inventory API provides standardized mechanism for resource inventory management such as creation, partial or full update and retrieval of the representation of a resource in the inventory. It allows also notification of events related to resource lifecycle.

Logical and physical resources don't support any uniform operation as they are abstract resources.

Only concrete resources, such as FRE or shelf, support operations.